Compassion Fatigue in the Animal-Care Community is a "must read and study" for the animal-care and -control worker.

—James Bias
President, SPCA of Texas

COMPASSION FATIGUE—the exhaustion caused by the demands of being empathic and helpful to those who are suffering—is found at every level among the caregivers in animal-related fields. In this groundbreaking book, two prominent leaders in the animal care community examine the causes of compassion fatigue and offer help to those who suffer from it.
